Lookin' Around with 'Mac'

We must be getting settled at our house. I can now reach the dinner table practically unscathed without stumbling over a half-opened crate. Moving a family of five nearly 600 miles with all the junk that our squirrelishness has piled up . . . all on a rainy weekend . . . makes its dent. That glassy look in my eyes seems to be disappearing . . . or is it the new light on the shaving mirror that casts a mellower shadow? The three younger Macs are getting oriented. Jon has made a thorough search of the pine woods near the house and reports with some pride that he "slew the Injuns daid." Jody, who incidentally has abandoned all hope of becoming Mickey and returned to the nickname she started with, was doing a jitterbug dance "to get the cramps and kinks out of her legs." Having lived in flat country, she had been racing up and down the hills here until she had a good Charley-horse.

I suppose every newcomer to Nevada City gets directionitis . . . that's our word for not knowing which way north is. It was the subject of discussion at the supper table. We pointed and gestured so freely we only got more mixed up, weren't sure which direction town was. Finally had to break up the dessert course to go out and locate the Great Dipper and the North Star. Darned if they didn't move the house half-way round the compass since the first time I was there.

We like to prowl. Sunday afternoon the whole family packed into the Ford and started east . . . or was it south? . . . along the Banner mountain road. We circled the mountain, hit the You-Bet-Red Dog road and came back into town on Boulder street. It's not a trip to recommend at this season. Large patches of ice, rivulets of water running in clay ruts, and considerable erosion of the road surface present driving hazards which might be hilarious adventure for the kids but is definitely soul-shaking to the guy who might have to walk back for a team of mules. We made it though.

The trip, only about ten miles, was beautiful. We were amazed at the healthy stands of young timber, the rich coloring of deep red clay and deep green forests.

Then we churned up to the airport and had a satisfying view of the town . . . so peaceful and quiet. There are times, even on the gayest occasions, when contrasts are deeply painful. Down there, in that peaceful American town, with its century-old traditions and its modern radios and cars, not a soul knew what a hydrogen bomb could do. Nobody dared guess the might of an explosion a thousand times more devastating than an atom bomb. This peace could be wiped out quicker than you could say it. But the peace was real and it was here and now. What horrors might be lurking in the unknown future could remain there. My prayer is that the kids—who are chattering and questioning with characteristic noise—might never know the terror of H-bomb warfare on their native land.

SCALES MAN DIES

Fred C. Carpenter, 62, resident of Scales for 20 years, died Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Shehan in Scales. Funeral services were held in Marysville. Carpenter was a native of Maine.

LEAGUE PLAY QUESTIONED FOR JACKETS

Purchase of Band Uniforms Proposed

Whether Nevada City high school band will have new uniforms this year was a major problem before the board of trustees at its meeting Monday night at the elementary school library. Although the board expressed willingness to spend $1480 for new capes and hats, the matter was temporarily set aside when it was pointed out that legal advertising for bids would delay delivery of the order until summer.

The band has about $500 on hand which it wants to use to replace its 18-year-old uniforms. An additional $500 has been budgeted for this purpose by the district. The board proposed to complete the necessary fund for the purchase of 40 purple capes and jaunty overseas caps. But according to law an expenditure that large requires bids from three firms and legal advertising. The matter was suspended to determine whether the board could legally donate $499.50 to the student body for immediate purchase.

A bombshell was dropped at the meeting when Trustee John Larue suggested that the Yellowjackets drop out of Sierra Foothill league for interscholastic football competition. He pointed out that the small student body eliminated possibility of building reserves for the 11 man team. The boys are usually outweighed and outplayed and there might be danger of overtaxing the players physically.

Principal Ed Frantz said that if Nevada City drops out of the football schedule, the league would request withdrawal from basketball and other competition. When asked if withdrawal would be mandatory, he said the school would not be forced to pull out of basketball.

The board took no cation but Coach Douglas Watt will be requested to state his views at the March board meeting, when the matter will be fully aired.

Mrs. George Becraft reviewed some details of her three-month-old campaign to audit and account for student body funds. She insisted that the board continue its investigations of asserted irregularities and added, "I have knowledge of some things that must be straightened out." When the administrator requested the source of her information be revealed and that she be specific in pointing to irregularities, she replied, "That is none of your business, Mr. Frantz."

Mrs. Becraft asked Albert Wood, shop instructor, to describe in detail his method of selling materials used in the shop and accounting for the proceeds. Her cross-examination was cut short when Wood's account appeared to satisfy the board.

Larue pointed out that an audit had been completed and that a public meeting had heard an exhaustive discussion of the matter. He urged that the board authorize disbursement of $429 to the credit of the student body fund . . . "that will balance the books as shown by the audit and the matter will be closed."

The board followed this procedure.

Tuesday, March 14, was set as date for installation dinner gathering of Nevada City Chamber of Commerce at Tuesday's meeting of the organization at city hall.

The dinner, originally planned for Jan. 10, was postposed when a blizzard hit Nevada City that day.

To be installed at the meeting are Ray Spickelmier, president; I. C. Bell, vice president; H. F. Sofge, secretary-treasurer; Milt Anderson, W. C. Briggs, Merrill Colvin, William Novak, O. J Melton and Ken Wray, directors.

The group also endorsed the master lighting plan designed by W. H. Meuron, Pacific Gas and Electric company engineer.

The junior chamber of commerce, now in process of organization, was approved by the organization.

HARVEY ARCH GIVEN ACCIDENT AWARD BY INSURANCE FUND

Harvey F. Arch, 53, former carpenter foreman for the Yuba River Lumber company, received a life award from the state compensation insurance fund by decision of the state industrial accident commission this week.

The Nevada City man suffered a heart attack on Feb. 25, 1948, and has been unable to work since then. The commission has awarded him permanent disability of $30 a week for 240 weeks and $18.46 a week for the rest of his natural life. In addition the fund will provide such medical treatment as may be required.

Albert Johnson, Nevada City attorney, represented Arch.

SUIT SETTLED

Samuel and Celia Zimmerman, Oakland, plaintiffs in a $91,818 damages suit, settled out of court Tuesday for $6,000 in an action they had filed against the Truckee-Tahoe Lumber company as result of collision on highway 40 near Truckee last Aug. 5. Settlement came while jurors were being selected for the trial.

60 DAYS

Alton Williams committed to county jail for 60 days by City Judge Miles Coughlin on charge of vagrancy.

MARCH OF DIMES IN FINAL WEEK OF DRIVE

The 1950 March of Dimes in Nevada county is in its final week and Chairman Ray Hodge in making a final appeal stated "Nevada county can and should make a last minute drive to meet its obligations to its polio patients and at the same time be prepared for what might happen again."

"The average family," Hodge said, "cannot carry the heavy load of a polio case."

Nevada county contributed to the 1949 campaign $5,000 and required $24,000 for care of the 38 persons stricken last summer.

Checks may be mailed to Albert Keeny, Nevada City.

SUPERVISORS ENDORSE CAMP BEALE AS SITE FOR AIR FORCE SCHOOL

Nevada county board of supervisors at an adjourned session Friday adopted a resolution endorsing the selection of approximately 10,000 acres of land, formerly occupied by the main cantonment of Camp Beale, as site for Air Force Academy.

The resolution, prepared by C. W. Bridges and Roy Tremoureux, Grass Valley, was presented to the board by them and Vernal Roth, Grass Valley.

The resolution provided:

"In the event the army air force selects this acreage as a site for such air force academy that the authorities of the federal government be called upon to return the balance of the federally owned lands comprising Camp Beale to private ownership, and that it be offered for sale to its former owners.

"In the event Camp Beale site is not selected for use of an air academy this board reiterates its former endorsement and recommendation to discontinue the use of Camp Beale as a bombing range and urges the return of the lands to former owners as consistently urged by the board."

The board also motioned to authorize the county hospital site as the most feasible for proposed county detention home.

The board also approved $65,000 allocation to complete a six-mile road that connects the town of Washington with highway 20. Money will be taken from the 1948 road allocation and chapter 20 fund. The road is a federal access road.

ELKS CHARITY BALL FEB. 25 TO FEATURE WESTERN STAGE SHOW

A western rodeo stage-show will be presented by a local talent cast at the 51st annual charity ball of the Nevada City Elks Lodge No. 518 Saturday night, Feb. 25, at the local Elks lodge hall, according to Ed Frantz, leading knight.

Frank Stewart and George Hansen are in charge of a new-idea show which will include 7 acts. Jerry Austin and his Round-Up boys will play for the dance to follow the stage entertainment.

Proceeds from the charity ball will be used in the Elks' assistance program. In the 50 years of lodge work in Nevada City over $100,000 has been spent in the assistance program.

Frantz said ticket reservations of Elks and their ladies and guests from the Nevada City and Grass Valley lodges should be made as soon as possible.

SECURITIES BROKER TO OPEN OFFICE ON BROAD STREET LOCATION

Merrill will have office space in the new location of Presley & Nile, realtors and insurance dealers.

Merrill plans to move his family here later.

Presley & Nile are busy with remodeling of their new offices in the National hotel, but are remaining open for their realty and insurance customers.

JR. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE GETS ROLLING HERE

Marvin Haddy Named Temporary Chairman

First steps for formation of a Nevada City Junior Chamber of Commerce were taken this past week at a meeting of 35 young businessmen and employees at city hall.

Marvin Haddy, operator of the Shell super station, was named temporary chairman, asd Alvin Trivelpiece, Bee correspondent, was named temporary secretary.

William Tobiassen, Al Lindsey and Michel Lipman were named as a committee to draw up charter and by-laws.

Bost declared the initial turnout of the Nevada City group was a larger turnout than the similar meeting of the Grass Valley group.

"As far as Grass Valley is concerned, we are very anxious to help you in any way we can," Bost said.

Bost said he thought organization of the junior chamber would be comparatively easy.

A second meeting of the charter group was held last night to study recommendations made by the committee on organization.

RED CROSS QUOTA FOR 1950 SET AT $2895

Of the amount $1,570 was set as a quota for Nevada City. The Truckee quota was set at $600, with $125 to be collected along highway 40, and another $600 to be collected in the unincorporated areas of the district.

Larue said he would ask the same captains who successfully conducted last year's drive to serve again.

Directors of the local chapter are Benjamin Hall, J. F. Siegfried, George L. Jones, Mrs. Fred F. Cassidy, Mrs. George Calanan and H. A. Curnow.

Escrow of the titles was completed Wednesday.

Harleth Brock, commander of the local national guard company, said assignment of contract will be the next step in the $105,000 project.

Rev. Poyner asked $25,000 as damages in a libel actios brought against Rev. John W. Watson, Modeston, Baptist minister, and formerly of Grass Valley.

State Income Tax Help on Returns Here This Month

An estimated 600,000 new taxpayers will be required to file state income tax returns in 1950 due to decreased allowable exemptions, Controller Thomas H. Kuchel, chairman of the franchise tax board, reported today.

The decrease of allowable exemptions effective this year may mean an increase in tax to all individuals filing income tax returns, Kuchel said.

Allowable personal exemptions are $2,000 for a single person and $3,500 for a married couple or head of a family. Returns must be filed by a single person or head of a family having a net income of $2,000 or more, or by married persons having an aggregate net income of $3,500 or more.

Representatives of the franchise tax board will assist local taxpayers in preparation of reports at the city hall in Nevada City Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 27 and 28, and at the Bret Harte hotel in Grass Valley Thursday and Friday, Feb. 23 and 24.

Kern county was organized in 1866.

MEET YOUR NEIGHBOR

By Clayre S. Lipman

Many's the time Ike Bell rambled Highway 40 from San Francisco to Reno in his business of refrigeration engineering . . . . "Then one day I thought I'd turn off on 49 . . . see what the country around here looked like," Ike says. "It was just a whim, but an odd thing happened. As I made the turn at Town Talk, I had the feeling I was coming home . . . and when I came into Nevada City, I knew that some day soon I was coming here to live . . . "

Tall, smiling Ike who was born in Clinton, Missouri . . . has seen a lot of these United States: Montana, Idaho, Utah, Southern California . . . but says the Sierra Nevadas are for him. With all California's recent growth, Nevada County is about the only unspoiled, unexploited part of the state left . . . especially for folks like himself, whose interests are hunting, fishing and golf.

His ancestors started the 16th century in America as hardwood workers, building wagons and wheels out of oak and hickory . . . about a hundred years ago, they switched over to coke and charcoal burning . . . "and," says Ike, eyes twinkling, "the wagon industry hasn't been the same since!"

Supposed to be retired, Ike just can't help getting into things . . . Wants to see sound development of the county's economy . . . believes this should be along recreational lines . . . a playground for city folks . . . so he's active in the Chamber of Commerce serving his second term as vice president, a member of Rotary, Elks, Athletic club, Sportsmen's club . . . plugging for improvement of highway 20 to Marysville, for the proposed West Point of the air as Camp Beale, for a publicity program to tell the world about Nevada County . . .

Believes that even if mining doesn't come back, there's a future here for young folks. For instance, reasonable, easily accessible land that's ideal for raising Christmas trees . . . a carefully planned program could provide livings for many new families. So would county-wide organization of summer and winter recreational facilities . . . coordinated efforts would retain the 49er tradition without the cheap "commercialization" that has spoiled many other areas . . .

Ike and his attractive, friendly wife, Jo, who is a former San Francisco dress designer, are both licensed real estate brokers . . . believe property always a safe investment. Values are automatically pegged to purchasing power of the dollar . . . up or down, one can't lose if property is sound in the first place.

The Bells have one daughter, Beatrice Ann Wolf, living in Sacramento. Their residence is the old original Murchie home on Red Dog Road. And they say, with Matthew XVII 4 in mind, "It is good for us to be here."

REAPPOINTED

Walter B. Sanford, Wolf, and Joel Bierwagen, Grass Valley, reappointed by Governor Earl Warren as directors of 17th District Agricultural association.

LITTLE NOT TO RUN

Justice of the Peace R. N. Little, Meadowlake township serving Truckee, announced he will not seek re-election. Mrs. Ethel Buell, teller at Truckee branch of Bank of America, announced her candidacy for the post.

JUSTICE CANDIDATES MUST FILE BY MARCH 3

Candidates for the three justices of the peace offices must file intention to run for election in County Clerk Ralph E. Deeble's office between the inclusive dates of Feb. 27 and March 3. They must also later qualify for the ballot in regular form as other county officers.

Creation of the California forestry board in 1883 preceded by ten years creation of the federal forest reserves.

MISS BERNICE PETERSON TOPS PLACER SCHOLARS

Parcel Post Restrictions Lifted

Persons receiving parcel post mail through third and fourth class post offices and rural routes will not be affected by the measure recently passed by the house readjusting postal rates. As the bill was originally voted out of committee, limitations of size and weight would have been put on parcel post for all classes of post offices, which would have worked a real hardship on people living in the rural and mountain areas of the second congressional district. The complaint has been made by transportation companies that liberalization of the parcel post laws has been putting them out of business, and some limitation on parcel post appeared to be in order. However, the people living at a distance from the major communities do not have the benefit of railway express and other transportation facilities and as a consequence rely upon the parcel post. The house in considering the bill readjusting postal rates very wisely, in my opinion, made an exception on the readjustment of parcel post weight and size to continue the same weight and size limitations as now exist. There will be some increase in the fees to make the service nearer, although not altogether, self sustaining.

Postal Rates on Newspapers

As a further matter of interest to my district, although the measure increases the amount of the postage to be paid by newspapers generally on their mailing, weeklies, semi-weeklies and triweeklies of 5,000 or less circulation were exempted and dailies of 10,000 circulation or less were exempted. So far as I can determine, these exemptions will apply to all of the newspapers published in my district. Of course, it should be borne in mind that the bill has only passed the house and will be up for consideration by the senate committee and the senate before it finally becomes law. An effort will be made, though, to continue it in the provisions beneficial and proper for rural and country areas.

Answering promptly—giving others a full minute to answer her call—are first on Janie's list of aids to service.

How Janie helps herself to better service

1. "Allowing a little time between calls," says Janie, "gives others a chance to call me . . . and it's a nice party-line courtesy, too." So when she's getting the gang together for a picnic, or for any reason needs to make calls in a row, she waits several minutes between each one. "It's simple to make friends with others on our line. I just use the telephone the way I like them to."

2. Looking up numbers, Janie knows, is really important. "So easy to get them mixed up," she explains. "Why, I was just sure Babs' number was 8145 . . . but when I called her I got the drug store. Turned out her number was 8415. So unless I'm really sure of a number, I'm going to look it up in the telephone book." That's a good tip for all of us—teen-agers and grown-ups.

3. Getting the most from the telephone—and helping others get better service—depends in part on every telephone user. Facilities have doubled in the West in ten years. Your telephone is today one of your most valuable servants . . . saving time, saving steps. And it still does its job for just a few pennies a call.

Our reading room is located at 207 Main street, and is open Monday, Wednesday and Friday, holidays excepted, from 2 to 4 p.m.

"Mind" is the subject of the Christian Science lesson-sermon for Sunday with the golden text taken from Isaiah, "The Lord is exalted; for he dwelleth on high; he hath filled Zion with judgment and righteousness. And wisdom and knowledge shall be the stability of thy times, and strength of salvation" (33:5,6).

The following citations are among those which will comprise the sermon:

The Bible: "For, lo, he that formeth the wind, and declareth unto man what is his thought, that maketh the morning darkness, and treadeth upon the high places of the earth, the Lord, the God of hosts, is his name" (Amos 4:13).

"Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, "Science reveals only one mind, and this one shining by its own light and governing the universe, including man, in perfect harmony. This mind forms ideas, its own images, subdivides and radiates their borrowed light, intelligence, and so explains the Scripture phrase, 'whose seed is in itself.' Thus God's ideas 'multiply and replenish the earth.' The divine Mind supports the sublimity, magnitude, and infinitude of spiritual creation" (p. 510).

JOHNSON WILL PLACE GLADS ON MARKET FOR FIRST TIME THIS YEAR

U. S. N. "Ny" Johnson, who this month will dispose of the Bret Harte dairy to Irvin J. Heide, Lakeport, doesn't intend to take life easy when the sale is completed.

Johnson will retain his two retail stores, the downtown fountain and the highway 20 drive-in and will continue activity in his mining interests.

"Ny" came out of the service in Siberia with the American expeditionary forces of World War I with a stomach affliction that left him in a highly nervous condition.

For relaxation, and it was the antidote, Ny remembered his mother's love for flowers and began to raise gladioli and dahlias as a hobby.

Over the years—23 in all—Ny has operated the dairy here, he pursued his hobby on a four-acre plot on Jordan street.

Ny estimates he has grown and developed more gladioli than any other person. He has imported bulbs from Holland and Australia at fancy prices to develop his hobby. He said he has often had bizarre results that resulted in hurried trips to the ashcan. But there is one type—yet unnamed—that is his pride and joy and which he considers the climax of his gladioli cultivation.

The plant has blossoms of Picardy pink on one side and white on the other, and the plant runs true. Ny says he has been accused of dyeing or tinting the blossoms to get the twin colored glad.

Johnson has not developed that particular blossom to point where it is ready for market.

Johnson plans this year to put his bulbs on the market for the first time in his 23 years of cultivation. He plans to grow tulips and lilies next year in addition to his glads.

Johnson has been an outstanding citizen of Nevada City for years and during the war time established the enviable record of furnishing the community with more milk per capita than any other town in the state.

$49,138 RETURNED TO COUNTY ON GAS TAXES

Nevada county's share of the state highway users tax fund amounted to $49,138, State Controller Thomas H. Kuchel announced this week. The one cent a gallon gas tax returned to the county accounted for $25,894 of this total.

The 58 counties divided $12,409,319 and $4,899,182 was set to one side in the state highway fund for future use by the cities. The remaining $21,436,853 was deposited in the highway fund for expenditure on highways by the state.

Kuchel said the monies were derived from following sources: gasoline tax, $35,274,110; use (diesel) fuel tax, $1,298,348; motor vehicle transportation tax, $2,172,273; and miscellaneous revenue, $623.

Kuchel added that the first apportionment of revenues was made this week to counties and air-port owning cities of unrefunded motor vehicle tax on aviation gasoline. The January apportionment to Nevada county was $383 to cities and $383 to the county.

Legislation enacted in 1949 provides for a quarterly allotment of $625 to each county and the balance of the fund to be allocated one-half on the basis of population and one-half on the basis of county area. The monies can be spent only for capital outlay on airports and can be assigned by the counties to the cities with the same restriction on expenditures.

Kuchel said that if more than one city qualifies for participation in a county's allocation, the cities' share in that county is divided in proportion to the population of the participating cities.

Ann Tamblyn Captures Essay Contest First Prize

Ann Tamblyn, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Tamblyn, 453 Sacramento, was awarded first prize for her essay on the 1950 March of Dimes conducted at the Nevada City elementary school.

Mrs. Elise de Mattei, chairman of March of Dimes campaign at school, presented the prize to the sixth grade student, and also the second and third prizes to David Daley, 13, eighth grade; and Sally Parsons, 12, seventh grade.

Sally Parsons is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Parsons, 548 Main.

The three winners were presented their prizes at an assembly Wednesday atfernoon at the school. Donors of the prizes remained anonymous.

First prize winner:

Why We All Should Join the March of Dimes

In 1949, 45,000 American people had infantile paralysis. If many more people contract this disease in 1950, it may become a national disaster.

Usually the treatment necessary for recovery from polio is of such long duration, and so costly, that the average American family cannot afford it. If we all give as much as we can afford, and maybe a little more, it will certainly help very much.

Nevada county had the worst epidemic in its history last year. We had to ask help from the National Foundation. We need money for hospitalization and treatment of last year's cases. We must be prepared for any cases we may have in 1950. Think of the many children who may never walk because there is no money for treatment. Only your dollars and dimes will help them.

Let's, each one of us feel that we are doing our part to help, not only in the treatment of polio cases, but in the scientific research, which we hope will rid us of this frightening disease.

Let's all join the March of Dimes!—Ann Tamblyn.

Second Prize

Polio took its worst toll in 1949. Thousands of people were stricken as a result of the epidemic.

This year will be even worse unless we contribute more money to the March of Dimes fund for polio victims. Children are not the only ones claimed by the deadly disease. Many adults are also stricken with polio. It could happen to any person. You would never expect it, but it could happen to you just as easily as it could to anyone else, regardless of age or size.

It used to be that if polio hit you it was almost sure to kill you or cripple you for life. Now, through the help of modern medical science, you have a much better chance of recovering.

But all this help can't be given for nothing. It costs anywhere from $4,000 to $10,000 a case! An average case costs $5,000!

That's the reason Franklin Delano Roosevelt started the March of Dimes fund, and that's why we must give more now than ever before.—David Haley.

Why We Should All Join the "March of Dimes"

We all know that polio is a terrible disease and that it can strike any one of your family at any time or place.

Some people have not been spared the grief and worry of polio and others have. If you were not spared you know what it is.

By joining the "March of Dimes" we can be sure that we are giving our family the right care that they need.

Your dimes and dollars will help the polio victims of your community as well as those of other communities.

In the 1949 epidemic the show houses and swimming pools had to shut down and the children had to stay home. If we join now some day maybe a vaccine or shot which will help to cure polio and the show houses and the swimming pools will not have to shut down on account of polio and children will not have to stay home all the time.

We should all dig down deep in our pockets and join the March of Dimes. Don't wait till it's too late. Act now and you may save one of your family.—Sally Parsons.

DR. ROGERS EXTRACTED SURPLUS CAPITAL FROM LOCAL CITIZENRY THROUGH PROMOTION OF THE ILL-STARRED BUNKER HILL FIASCO OF EARLY DAYS

Few tales of early day Nevada City are more diverting than the story of the "Great Bunker Hill Fiasco," also known to some as the "Deer Creek Folly."

It is a story of almost unbelievable mass gullibility in an age of strong and able men famed for knowledge and wisdom which took several of them to high seats of state and national government.

But in this particular instance their prudence was dissolved by a honey tongued little scientist (so-called) who lives in the pages of Nevada county history as Dr. Rogers.

Dr. Rogers, according to best information from dusty archives, was a dapper little fellow who hit the diggin's in early 1852 and without delay allowed it to become known that Nevada City was now blessed with the presence of a chemist, a physicist, a mineralogist and a metallurgist, all rolled up in one person—Dr. Rogers.

Chroniclers of the time neglected to jot down his given name or initials during his stay here. After the great fiasco his disappearance was so thorough that later historians were unable to shed new light upon him.

After the fiasco Dr. Rogers quickly saddled his white mare and disappeared into history as completely as the stock holders' dollars disappeared into the magnificent enterprise one mile down Deer Creek.

The Bunker Hill story goes like this:

Dr. Rogers, after a preliminary period of making himself agreeable to the local bigwigs, revealed a theory that quartz was of a porous and cellular nature and that the free gold was entrapped in tiny pockets in the quartz. By application of heat the quartz would expand and the gold would be freed, the savant explained.

Ponderous scientific pronouncements rolled from his glib tongue and soon he had sufficient support—both moral and financial—to launch his enterprise.

One mile down Deer Creek on the north bank construction of his gold separation plant was started. Records indicate it was on the site of the Soggs mine.

The device consisted of a large cauldron or catch basin surmounted by a towering fire box and chimney. A ramp led to the top of the chimney. Much stone, steel and fireclay went into the imposing structure. A large wheel was fabricated. Before the project was completed more than $80,000 had been expended and scores of prospective millionaires awaited the day of the great experiment.

Finally the great day arrived. The towering stack and fire box were loaded with alternate layers of firewood and quartz.

The entire population was agog. Bar flies talked learnedly of "expansion coefficients," "fusing points," "molecular interstices," and "fracture patterns." The biggest men of the community knew a good thing when they saw it. Dr. Rogers was the man of the hour.

After several delays, perhaps arranged by Dr. Rogers to heighten the dramatic effect, the mass of wood and quartz was ignited. Throughout the first night hundreds journey down Deer Creek. They stood in awed silence and watched the red glow against the night sky.

As the wood burned the glowing mass settled in the huge stack. Dr. Rogers, full of high purpose and large talk, ordered the workmen to pile in more quartz and more fuel.

By this time it was generally believed that the catch basin at the bottom of the stack was close to overflowing with gold which had burst from the heat-expanded quartz and dropped into the receiving receptacle.

Some few insisted that the cauldron be hauled out and examined. Perhaps a few tons of gold should be removed to make room for more.

After several conferences, high officialdom consented to an examination. The catch basin was removed. It contained nothing but ashes, cinders and a sprinkling of well-smoked bits of quartz.

The bubble burst!

Dr. Roers departed in peace, but hurriedly. There is nothing in the annals to indicate there was lynching talk. It is believed that the city for several days suffered from silent bewilderment rather than articulate anger. Meanwhile Dr. Rogers was probably enjoying himself in a Sacramento saloon.

But before the good doctor be branded with such terms as "charlatan and rascal" it should be pointed out that Rogers was never openly accused of being a crook. In fact it is generally believed that all the $80,000 he collected went into the fiery furnace on Deer Creek.

But the great fiasco had an immediate effect on the city's economy. Quartz mining was declared a humbug. Prices dropped. Valuable buildings were deserted. Interest in placer activities revived. But in less than a year quartz mining was on the upturn and the town was movisg toward a boom.

The popular expression "Sold down the river," did not originate with the episode down Deer Creek, but it very well could have!

Editor's note: The editor does not vouch for all the information contained in the above. Some authorities contend that the version contained in Bean's Directory of 1867 was over-colored. It could be pointed out that several chroniclers of that period neglected to mention the incident. A few touched the fiasco story very lightly. Readers may be reminded that the period from 1851 to the middle 60's was marked by an endless round of tall tales. Many stories were embellished and distorted by such prominent literary lights as Mark Twain. While a reporter with the Territorial Enterprise in Virginia City Twain spun several yarns even more fabulous than the Bunker Hill tale.

The editor welcomes criticisma nd comment on all historical sketches. Such criticism might lead to another and better story—who knows?—AT.

FOREST FUNDS TURNED TO COUNTIES SHOW $14,000 INCREASE

The counties' share of Tahoe national forest receipts for the past fiscal year have increased $14,000 over the last five-year average, according to Guerdon Ellis, forest supervisor.

The 25 percent portion of the Tahoe national forest receipts amounts to $49,991.07. Distributed to counties according to national forest acreage, these are as follows: Nevada, $10,217.75; Placer, $16,433.26; Sierra, $21,824.27, and Yuba, $1,385.18. In addition three of the above counties will participate in the receipts from the two adjacent national forests, the Plumas and the Eldorado. The total amount each county will therefore receive from national forest receipts is as follows: Sierra, $32,710.91; Placer, $23,348.16; Yuba, $9,013.66; Nevada, $10,217.75.

These receipts result from timber sales, grazing, special use fees, and other incomes and are returned to the counties for school and road expense.

Ellis made available these other figures in connection with the Tahoe national forest. The total average annual expenditure of the forest is $425,018. For the past five years there has also been expended from the forest highway fund $833,042 per year. This money has gone for the improvement to highways 49, 20, 40 and 89 within the Tahoe national forest boundary.

ADEQUATE WIRING

1. ADEQUATE ENTRANCE SERVICE. Adequate Wiring begins with three wires of large enough size brought through your house to the main entrance switch.

2. ENOUGH CIRCUITS. Adequate Wiring provides a sufficient number of branch circuits within your house to prevent overloading of any circuits.

3. PLENTY OF OUTLETS AND SWITCHES. Adequate Wiring means plenty of convenience outlets and switches to permit proper arrangement of furniture—freedom from multiple cord extensions—and the use of appliances without having to disconnect one appliance in order to use another.

Your architect knows what he is doing when he specifies full and complete Adequate Wiring for your home. He is making sure that the wires and circuits will not become overloaded in the years ahead. Your wiring is like your plumbing. When water pipes are too small—water runs in a trickle... and when the wires are too small your supply of electricity isn't adequate to operate lights and appliances with proper safety and efficiency. Certified Adequate Wiring is a good investment. Insist on it. You'll be glad you did!

CENSUS DISTRICT OFFICE LOCATED IN AUBURN

District office of the bureau of the census, which will serve 11 counties in this area, has been moved to the second floor of the Auburn city hall.

The office was formerly located in Roseville. The move was made to save money and facilitate travel, Harold Berliner, Jr., Nevada City, district upervisor, declared.

Berliner pointed out that Auburn is centrally located in the district, being the crossroads of highways 40 and 49. There will be a great deal of traveling to and from the district office by employees from their working areas.

As government employees are paid a certain living allowance for the time they are away from their official stations, plus fixed mileage fee, Berliner estimated a $2,000 savings will be made in the next six months.

The census will serve Nevada, Placer, Sierra, El Dorado, Alpine, Amador, Calaveras, Tuolumne, Mono, Inyo and Mariposa counties.

Actual census enumeration is to begin April 1. Preparations have been in process for several weeks.

Applications for census enumerators have been received for the past month, and the roster is nearly complete, Berliner said. The work will be done entirely by local people.

Facilities of Auburn city hall were made available to the census bureau by the Auburn city council. Telephone number is Auburn 1200.

HOUSING IS GREATEST NEED AT SANITARIUM

Board of directors of Weimar sanitarium agreed with major sections of a critical report by a study group of California Medical association that some of the conditions pointed out exist, but little can be done until new county budgets are compiled.

Criticism mainly was directed at inadequate housing for members of the staff, which in turn makes it difficult to secure experienced and adequate personnel. One criticism called the location of the sanitarium poor.

COUNTY NATIVE DEAD

LOSS REDUCED

F. L. Oliver, president, reported two new ore veins "of considerable potential value" were discovered by diamond drilling in 1949.

California was ceded to the U. S., with other land aggregating over 300,000,000 acres, by treaty with Mexico, Feb. 2, 1848.

Just Wonderin'

I Wonder if you're wonderin' now,
What Washington would say,
If he could come to earth again
And scan our modern way;
Perhaps you're wonderin' what he'd do
And what his plans would be,
To make our crooked pathways straight
From sea to sullen sea.

Years ago a well known author of the time, wrote a book, titled, "If Christ Came to Chicago." Mr. Stead made a number of logical points; he proved conclusively that in Chicago, Christ would find many temples from which to expell money changers, that he would possibly improve many opportunities for calling upon the citizens of Chicago to "love one another" and to do to others as they themselves would be done by, and he painted in stirring word pictures the fate of the Master as he went about doing good in a great modern metropolis.

I don't know what good that particular book did; of course, it provided food for idle speculation and discussions of the pro and con variety, but Chicago seemed quite untouched; it went its way and has been going its way ever since after its own fashion and that fashion was quite unchanged by the pen pictures of Mr. Stead and the discussions they provoked.

Every February when we celebrate the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln, columnists and news reporters, teachers, orators and ministers the land over begin to tell us just what Washington and Lincoln would do if by any chance they could come back and walk the earth again. Perhaps you indulge in that sort of fantastic thinking, for isn't it fantastic? How can you, I or any one else even approximate the thoughts which might arise in the minds of Washington or of Lincoln and the deeds to which they might turn their hands, if suddenly and without warning they were catapaulted into the midst of things mundane as they are today?

What would our heroes of old do, if they could stage a return to the scenes of their olden activities? I haven't the least idea. They functioned gallantly in their own time and places, but were they asked to cope with world affairs now, how can any one tell what they would think and do? Times have changed since the thrilling days of the American Revolution and the dark days of our Civil War; everything has changed and to imagine two men of those past decades, stepping into the picture of modern ways, is, it seems to me just a waste of precious time.

They, Washington and Lincoln, would need a huge fund of information, a knowledge of modern inventions and economic problems and lacking experience along modern lines, they might find themselves as non-plussed as most of us are who have been blessed with modern experience and crammed with modern knowledge.

Of course, they would quit themselves like men; they would, I doubt not, be gallant, trustworthy and just in their dealings with all men; of that we may well be sure, so why not be content with that which we can imagine and let it go at that?

The important question is not what Washington and Lincoln would do under strange circumstances, rather it is what we are doing in the line of returning our world to even a modicum of sanity. Perhaps we are adding our little voices to the Katy Did, Katy Didn't chorus which now sweeps the earth from pole to pole. If we are, let's sing a new tune. Some generation will have to bring order out of the chaois, why can't it be our own?

"Somewhere the sun is shining," somewhere peaceful fields are gleaming, sometime we'll get out of our slough of despond and learn to be "kind hearts and gentle people." Each one of us can do his little bit and so speed the day, which we may come to call the day of deliverance.

ADELINE MERRIAM CONNER.

PEACE ON EARTH

Peace on earth and good will toward men seems further away now than ever with the current ruckus over the Hydrogen Bomb. For good or ill President Truman has given the go-ahead sginal for research and development of the weapon.

Until the day comes when the world find real peace—if such is not just an illusion—and the nations of the world can honestly sit down in a United Nations of the World—America would be making a grave mistake in not attempting to build any weapon it can conceive to protect our nation from any possible aggressor or combination of aggressors.

Fear of capital punishment keeps many would-be murderers from committing a crime. Fear of retribution will prevent many would-be aggressors from starting war.—kww

YELLOWJACKETS DROP TWO CASABA MATCHES

Nevada City high school Yellowjackets dropped two more basketball games the past week losing out to the league champions in Auburn, Placer high, to the tune of 64 to 31 Friday night and a 43 to 32 game to Marysville here Tuesday night.

Warren Immel's Bees retained a vestige of glory for the local school by coming through with an upset of the Marysville Bee team 40 to 28 for the squad's second league win of the season.

Despite an apparent "what's the use" attitude in Auburn Friday night Coach Douglas Watt's squad racked up its average of 30 points a game but could not stop the high-flying Hillmen.

The Bees lost 44 to 33 in the preliminary.

The Tuesday night games here were wild and woolly with John Cartoscelli and Normas Ellis continued to lead the Yellowjacket play.

Steve Pieser racked up 19 points to lead the Bees to their upset of the Marysville Papooses.

In California this year eight cities will celebrate 100 years of corporate existence. With their incorporation dates, they are Sacramento, Feb. 27, 1850; San Jose and Benicia, March 27, 1850; Los Angeles and Sonoma, April 4, 1850; Santa Barbara, April 6 1850; San Francisco, April 15, 1850; and Stockton, July 23, 1850.

MERCHANTS DROPPED FROM FOOTHILL LEAGUE

Nevada City Merchasts baseball team was dropped from the Foothill Amateur league at organizational meeting of the league directors in Auburn.

Manuel Serpa was re-elected president, and Harvey West Jr., Placerville, was named vice president. Secretary and treasurer will be named at a later date.

The Merchants were replaced by a team entered by the same group of Roseville men who took over Al Wolf's franchise in the Placer-Nevada league.

Possibility of Grass Valley and Placerville Outlaws remaining in the league was not clear at the meeting. The league may operate with eight clubs.

Placerville Outlaws, winners of the pennant race last year, were denied the championship due to use of an ineligible player, Bowa.

Lincoln Cubs and Auburn Maroons were awarded the championship.
